The Indian Mission Schools.

TO THE EDITOR.—Would you kindly permit a few lines in regard to a statement made by the superintendent of Indian affairs in British Columbia in his report of last year, which may be found in the Blue Book, page 11.

He says, in regard to the teachers employed in Indian schools, many of them lack experience and qualification. This is rather hard on the teachers, but is the superintendent acquainted with the persons who teach those schools? Has he superintended their work? Let us see. The first school on the list is Naas river. That school is taught by Miss Green, a young lady from England, who was employed in the capacity of teacher before coming to this country, and who can produce her certificate to show that she is duly qualified. The next is Port Simpson, taught by Mr. Jennings, who has had a number of years' experience in important schools in Ontario. He was succeeded last year by Mr. Hopkins, from Evanston University, Illinois. His papers need only a glance to refute any such statement. St. Mary's mission school, as also that of Hesquiat, is taught by one of the priests.

Suffice it is to say that if these men are not qualified to teach Indian schools they are not qualified to be priests. The school at Metlakahtla was taught by a highly qualified teacher in the person of Mr. H. D. Chantrell. Last on the list (Alert Bay) teacher, Rev. A. J. Hall, and if that gentleman lacks experience or qualification I would like to know how the Indian superintendent defines those words.

There are other schools. The school at Bella Bella has been supplied with qualified teachers ever since it was opened now nearly four years ago; but not one one cent of grant has as yet been received from the department towards the teachers' salaries. Mrs. Tate, who is in charge of this school, has had seven years of experience in this country besides three or four years among the Indians of Ontario.

Besides the schools at our mission stations there are both white and native teachers sent to the scattered tribes along the coast, among the islands and on the banks of the rivers, who ought to be supported entirely by the government. If the civilization and education of these barbarous people means anything to the goverument this is little enough to ask; but we are told that these men and women are not qualified to teach. The fruits of their labors will show whether they are or not. If they are not, and the government are desirous of doing anything in the way of education for the Indians, why do they not send qualified teachers? If men or women could be found who would go into one of those heathen camps and shut themselves out from communication with the outside world, we venture to say it would be only such as had their hearts filled with zeal for the salvation of those poor, wretched creatures. Another glance at the Blue Book shows us that $40,000 was given by the Dominion Government last year for the Indians in B. C. But of this large sum $1,800 was granted to the different schools and about $5,000 more for medicines, implements, charities, etc. Of course this does not include a large grant made for Indian dances to show off their heathenism before the governor-general when visiting B. C. It would have been vastly more creditable to have shown him some of the nice little farms, neat cottages and well clad people at some of the mission stations.

We also notice that each of the local agents receives $400 travelling expenses. This seems enormous. Why, some of our missionaries get very little over the above-named sum to cover both salary and travelling expenses, and they travel as much or more than any of them.

C. M. TATE.

Local Shipbuilders.

TO THE EDITOR.—Amongst the many subjects discussed in your columns affecting the well being of the province, there is one seldom touched upon; but nevertheless it is of considerable importance, and yet, we are sorry to say, to a great extent overlooked by the freight carrying fraternity resident in British Columbia, viz: the industry of shipbuilding, or, as it might be more correctly rendered, steamer building; but which, unfortunately for this province, has developed into a craze for steamer buying. Now, it does not require a very astute person to see the evil results of such a craze, for craze it is, as the recent specimens which now adorn our boneyards speak for themselves. Capital invested, which ought to have been proudly breasting the waves in these waters, is now lost, as far as the province is concerned, for it has gone to swell the coffers of our cousens in California. Money received here for passage and freight is given in a lump sum for steamers that have outlived their usefulness, and are dear at any price. Where, in the name of common sense, where is the economy if mechanics are driven out of the country; for in no branch of manufacture in any country are there so many classes of mechanics employed as in the construction of steamers. It may be said wages are too high; but the fallacy of that will be manifest when it is stated that mechanics in that line, under this suicidal policy, are employed very little over half time throughout the year. Without making any invidious comparisons we must admit that the U. S. laws, as regards the sale of vessels, is far from being reciprocal, and it ought to be our duty also to take care of ourselves. We do not now occupy the isolated position held by us five years ago, and it remains with our business men to show whether they are public spirited enough to keep money in the country or suffer a relapse. Providence helps those who help themselves; and as we are to a great extent dependent on one another here, I close with the wish that this leak may soon be stopped.

DESIDERATUM.

Absentee Landlords.

TO THE EDITOR.—It is a deplorable fact that some of the most disgracefully dilapidated buildings in the city belong to rich real estate owners (and absentees at that) who have never put one brick on another and will not spend a dollar in repairs for the benefit of tenants from whom they receive heavy rents. These men profit by the enterprise of neighbors who have to pay taxes on their improvements, while the absentees who will make no improvements manage to have their lots assessed at a low rate. To reach such men ought to be the constant study of the city corporation.

EASTERN STATES.

OMAHA, May 30.—At 5:45 this morning the special train having on board the delegates to the national republican convention at Chicago, from California and Nevada, arrived in this city. The train was composed of eight Pullman sleeping cars and one baggage car. Upon the sides of two cars were large streamers on which were painted "California Delegation, 1876, 1880, 1884." Following this was a portrait of James G. Blaine, after which, in large letters, were the words "Blaine and Victory."

CHICAGO, May 30.—Elaborate headquarters, under the auspices of the leading business men of the city, in advocacy of the candidacy of [illegible], were opened at the Palmer House to-day, and at a meeting this afternoon a committee was appointed, with power to add to their numbers, to receive the New York business men's delegation, which will arrive to-morrow.

EUROPE.

LONDON, May 29.—It now transpires that the real owner of St. Gatiens, who ran a dead heat for the Derby with Harvester, is a builder at Epsom, and an intimate friend of the famous jockey, Fred Archer, who rode St. Madern. The popular belief among sporting men now is that Harvester was never ill, as was reported, and that the circulation of the report was purely a trick to rig the market and obtain odds. When Harvester appeared his perfect soundness was so patent to all beholders that he was very largely backed, and a large sum of money must have been handled by his owners and backers. It is probable, however, that Sir John Willoughby will have some very awkward questions to answer about alleged trickery in reports of his horse's condition, and also about the pulling by the jockey of Queen Adelaide, who undoubtedly would have won if she had been allowed.

LONDON, May 29.—It is reported that since the cabinet learned through Hubbard, director of the Bank of England, that the directorate are unanimous in their condemnation of Hugh Childers' bill for the conversion of consols, the majority of the ministers urge the withdrawal of the bill.

LONDON, May 29.—A man who was identified in the recent ventures with the American "Plunger" said to a reporter yesterday: "To-day's Derby makes or breaks Walton. If Richmond is defeated he will lose a fortune."

CANADA.

WINNIPEG, May 29.—In the legislature to-day the leader of the opposition gave notice of a motion rejecting the federal reply to the province's demands. Premier Norquay withdrew his notice of motion for a committee to consider the reply. He said the government to-morrow probably would know what to do and immediately moved adjournment, which prevailed.

EGYPT.

CAIRO, May 29.—News has reached here that the new black false prophet has appeared before Darfour and defeated El Mahdi's troops. The new Mahdi states that El Mahdi was one of his former dervishes.

The King of Grain Harvesters.

In the year 1883 there were 18,000 Deering Twine Binders sold, and for the present year of 1884 the manufacturers are making 25,000 of these celebrated machines. This is no baby binder, but cuts a swath 6 feet 4 inches in width without the inside horse walking in the standing grain. The new Knotter for this year is the success of the age. These machines are simple, light and strong, and easier on a team than any other machine made. Sole agent for B. C., E. G. Prior, Victoria, B. C.

THE CIVIC TAXES.

Our esteemed contemporary is still uneasy on the subject of civic taxation. It repeats all its old arguments, is still sure that personal property should be taxed for municipal purposes, and declares that although it may be delayed, it is one of those inevitable things that must come off. Perhaps the editor is getting a little tired of being taxed for real estate, and thinks it would be a grand thing if a tax on personal estate could only be brought to his rescue. Now, if personal estate were not taxed at all, there might be some force in his argument; but it is taxed already by the provincial government just as real estate is taxed by the municipal government. The Standard's article is very lengthy and bristles with figures, but it contains no new argument, and little of anything that is worth replying to. The impression it gives is that some realestate owners have got an axe to grind and that they have conceived the brilliant idea of getting other peple to turn the grindstone for them. Under the circumstances this looks a little to thin. An endeavor has already been made to show why real estate in a prosperous city should bear the brunt of taxation for civic purposes, especially when personal estate is already taxed for another purpose, and whether it is for the benefit of the city or province is immaterial. As for unimproved vacant lots and acres not yielding enough to pay the city taxes The Colonist endeavored to take a fair view of the question and tried to show why a tax on personal estate would not be so remarkably equitable as our contemporary insists,and we believe that a majority of the citizens agree with us. There is,however,nothing to quarrel about; if people are really convinced that a tax on personal estate ought to be levied for municipal as well as provincial purposes they have only to signifiy their wish to assist the impoverished real estate owners of the city, and there is no doubt every opportunity will be afforded them. But our contemporary will have to furnish stronger reasons than he has yet advanced to convince any one that personal property should be taxed twice and realestate only once in this municipality.

WHAT A CONTRAST!

The Colonist by means of exclusive dispatches was enabled to lay before its readers yesterday morning news of the extremely cold weather that is prevailing in the eastern states and Canada. Could anything present a greater contrast to this state of the weather there than the weather we are enjoying here? On a beautiful summer morning a faint breeze bringing through wide open doors and windows the fragrance from blooming gardens and fertile lands beyond the city, we read that our eastern brethren are still suffering from the grip of a reluctantly-departing winter. Heavy frosts have been occurring for some time; in some places snow at the first of June! Great damage has been done to crops and fruit and vegetables are severely injured. The strawberry crop, valued at many thousands, is entirely ruined,and in New York the grape crop is half destroyed. It make the shivers run down one's back to hear that off the coast of Newfoundland the ocean is full of drifting icebergs and a vessel lies on her side wedged in by ice, all her fuel gone, the crew nearly dead with cold and hunger and the ship fast drifting out to sea. We certainly have a right to glory on our situation. Free alike from the extreme of heat and cold, we enjoy the advantage of a health-giving climate, rich and fertile country, and scenery unsurpassed by any on the continent.

Spallumcheen.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

SPALLUMCHEEN, May 17.

I think we never had a more favorable spring. A large area of grain has been sown and is doing splendidly. Among the large crops Lumley & Bennett have,I should imagine, about 400 acres sown and a large quantity fallowing for fall wheat. J. Wichers & Furstenan must have nearly 200 acres each. Mr. O'Keefe and Mr. Greenhow have each somewhere about the same quantity sown, while there are members with 100 acres in crop. With grain at 2c per lb.and a yield of a ton to the acre (the amount they generally get with a favorable year) this represents a great deal of money.

It seems a great pity that the legislative assembly should be so shortsighted as to defeat the Okanagon-Shuswap railway bill. Over 100,000 acres of land are occupied by bona fide settlers who would utilize this railway and be able to grow large quantities of grain with the facilities for shipment which the railroad would afford.

I expect that there is no part of British Columbia that shows greater signs of progress than this favored locality. A great number of new people are making their homes here. Mr. Paton, a Scotch gentleman, recently bought out an old settler and, I believe, intends growing fruit. He planted a large number of trees this spring which all look remarkably thrifty.

Ballot-papers are sent round to the members of the mounted rifles. The election of officers is to take place on the 24th.

Rev. Harlock, of Yale, has, I believe, selected a site for a house and intends building shortly.

Mr. Postill has the millwrights at work putting new machinery in his mill on Dog Creek.

There is a splendid opening for a man who has a little capital, and understands the business, to bring up an artesian borer with necessary piping, etc. He could contract for scores of wells here; the subsoil is a hard sedimentery deposit, clay and sand, no rocks to contend with; easy boring. Many have sunk 100 feet in this without striking water, but no one has been through it. There is no country that offers greater facilities for boring, and where it is so much needed. There is also going to be a scarcity of thrashing machines this fall. I have often been asked if this is a good place for settlers to come to. Only those with capital. The place is a perfect garden; the soil cannot be surpassed for productiveness and no irrigation is necessary. But the land is valuable and anyone with capital to invest, who like sport and the best climate in the world, could not do better than buy a place here. Many of the old, non-progressive settlers, are to be bought out comparatively cheap. There are farms here that are realizing from three thousand to fifteen thousand dollars a year, so of course these places are not to be bought for a song.

EASTERN STATES.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The following notice was posted this morning upon the doors of the banking house of D. W. Middleton & Co.: "Owing to heavy demands we have assigned to Geo. F. Green for the benefit of our creditors." The doors of the bank are not closed and a number of excited persons are gathered inside talking over the suspension.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The West Side bank resumed to-day.

President Arthur had a few callers this morning and leaves for Washington this afternoon.

Failures reported for 7 days in the United States and Canada are 177, a decrease of 55.

A large number of delegates to Chicago left this morning.

SANFRANCISCO, May 31.—Richard Paul, who arrived here from Bremen via Baltimore, was to-day sent to the hospital with the small pox. He states that when the steamer was 10 days out from Bremen a passenger was buried and that 5 others were buried before reaching port. He was not informed of the cause of death.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—The Greco-Roman wrestling match between Clarence Whistler and John Cannon for $250 a side was won by Whistler in two straight falls. Time, 29 minutes,31 minutes.

A man named Dietrich and his wife got into a quarrel to-day in the course of which he shot her and then shot himself. She is likely to recover; he is not expected to live through the night.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 31.—The North German Gazette publishes the programme issued by the committee of the Peasants Convention on the 4th of July. This programme advocates a protective duty on agricultural products, reduction of railway tariff, the [illegible] distribution of taxation costs attending land trespass and the creation in every district of peasant associations.

COLORADO.

DENVER, May 31.—A cattle round up camp on Fraudman Creek, near the Colorado and Nebraska line, was destroyed by a flood on Thursday and eleven cowboys were drowned. The flood was caused by a cloudburst, the water coming with great force destroyed everything in its path, men, horses, wagons, and camping outfit were all carried down the stream.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, May 31.—In the burning of the Tramway Co.'s stables to-night 500 horses perished.

Literary Notes.

The will of Charles Reade gives to the Harpers "for their editorial room" an oil portrait of himself.

The Scribners, with a highly creditable alacrity, have informed the author of "The Creators of the Age of Steel" that they intend to give him the same royalty which they would give an American author.

Charles Reade left an autobiography which promises to be one of the most vigorous, straightforward and entertaining things of the kind in literature. It is said to contain some lively criticisms on the books and writers of the times.

Lord Beaconsfield's papers and letters were enormous in number and absolutely without order or arrangement. Lord Rowton, who is editing his memoirs,finds that Beaconsfield kept no index to his correspondence or notes, but simply thrust all into a large box.

The London "Ghost Society" is preparing a volume of indisputable and soul-harrowing tales for early publication.

The National Library at Madrid alone contains 600,000 printed books and 30,000 MSS., while the university boasts of nearly 137,000 books and an equal number of MSS. Then the private collections are numerous and splendid. The Duke of Ossuna's possessions move students of the Elizabeth drama to jealousy. He has 3,000 MSS. plays, incuding many of Lope de Vega, of the great age of the Spanish theatre.

It may not be a generally accepted fact that railway cars are a poetic inspiration, but they seem to have proven so to Edwin Arnold who, according to his son Julian, wrote "The Light of Asia" from day to day as he rode from his residence to his office in London. Another singular feature of this composition is, according to son Julian,that the father wrote the poem upon his shirt cuffs and transcribed it on his return home at night. It seems a trifle singular that Mr. Arnold was so cramped for paper that he had to write on his shirt cuffs, and the incident can only be explained on the basis of eccentricity of genius.

THE barques Prince Rupert and Jessie Jamieson have made a large addition to Bagnall & Co.'s stock of pianos and musical instruments, including seventy-five violins, some very choice and valuable. The stock will be further augmented by the arrival of the Duke of Connaught, Harvest Home, Princess Royal, James Bain and Jupiter. A visit to this establishment will repay the trouble.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR is one of the most striking and pleasing characteristics and can easily be obtained by using Cingalese Hair Renewer. Price cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists. dwly

Fresh Fashion Notes.

A new color decidedly in vogue is the manilla. It is a shade lighter than "ecru," and is tastefully mixed with all the other colors.

Bridesmaids' fans are made in the shape of hearts, have long handles, and are covered with flowers. Palmleaf fans are covered with lace and intermixed with flowers, to match those on the dress.

Gray and black, with silver braid decorations, are used in combination for dresses for dowagers.

For parasols, silks with flower designs, large and small, are used sometimes for the outside and sometimes for the lining, the plain material being of the same color as the ground of the figured stuff. When the outside is plain a flower is often cut out of the figured material and applied thereon carelessly on the side of the parasol.

Both men and woman wear gaiters or shoes with pointed toes and flat heels. It is not advisible to exaggerate this style, as pointed soles are dangerous and deform the feet; flat heels, however, are a great improvement upon Louis XV heels. The latter are quite out of use in Paris.

"Turkey red" petticoats of the serviceable cotton called by this name, made flounced and trimmed with white lace, are serviceable underskirts, as the dust can be shaken out them almost as out of wool. Some of these petticoats are handsomely trimmed with rows of black velvet ribbon.

Heaviest and board-like black silks are to be the most fashionable, and although they are expensive by the yard, they are guaranteed to "last forever." In these days that is a very important consideration.

FEMALE JURORS.—Mr. D. Lister, foreman of the grand jury at this term of court, says the Tacoma News, has great faith in the ability of the ladies as grand jurors. He estimates three women as equal to six men in eliciting facts from witnesses whom they generally approach in a different direction from that pursued by the men, but their methods are usually successful. After the prosecuting attorney had in vain exhausted all his strategy with a certain witness three of the women took him in hand and soon had the true inwardness of his secrets before them.

THE EXPLOSION IN LONDON.

The Damage Equals the First Estimate.

OTHER EXPLOSIONS AND GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Five Persons Will Probably Die.

(Exclusive to The Colonist.)

LONDON, May 31.

Daylight showed the damage by the explosion was fully equal to the worst anticipated. A crowd of excited people are visiting the scenes. Policemen are drawn up in line across the street in the vicinity to prevent the access of the multitudes. Orders have been given to leave the wreckage untouched until examination by Majendie. At St. James' Theatre, a hundred yards distant, the explosion sounded like two claps of thunder. The audience were alarmed and there was a panic. Several ladies fainted, but no harm was done.

A second bomb was exploded against the residence of Sir Walter Wynn. It produced a huge fracture four feet in height by three feet in breadth. Windows were smashed and the furniture damaged. The explosion created great havoc in the Junior Carlton Club House. Numerous cases of wine were destroyed and the club will remain closed for several days. An hour before the explosion there was an outbreak of fire at the war office. It was speedily extinguished. It is unknown whether it was incendiary. So far as known, up to noon thirteen persons were injured, including five women. All the wounded are in the hospital. Five, including a policeman, are in a precarious condition.

SECOND DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, May 31.

Rossa says: "We've got England at last. It will not be long before she will be on her knees. Last night's explosion was only a beginning of her troubles." Joyce, secretary of the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood, said: "Last night's work ought to convince England that we are in earnest. You need not be surprised to hear of greater ones before many days. Gladstone had better mind himself."

The Execution of Edward Lemon.

The unfortunate young man Edward Lemon paid the last penalty of the law at six o'clock yesterday morning in the gaol yard, where the scaffold had been erected the day before. Father Mandart remained with the prisoner all through the preceding night and a death watch was maintained by two guards. At half-past two o'clock in the morning Lemon laid down on his bed in the cell and slept soundly until about five o'clock when he rose and dressed and drank a cup of coffee and ate a small piece of bread. Father Jonckau having meanwhile reached the gaol joined Father Mandart in his ministrations. Lemon was very contrite, but calm and collected and prayed frequently. Shortly before six o'clock the roofs of buildings overlooking the gaol yard were black with people; but the only persons within the enclosure besides the doomed man and the priests were the Sheriff and deputy, head gaoler, superintendents of provincial and city police, gaol surgeon, members of the press, and police and prison officials, numbering in all 26. At precisely six o'clock the sad procession was formed. First came Rev. Father Jonckau, then the condemned man, next Rev. Father Mandart and finally the gaol officials. Lemon, whose arms were pinioned, ascended the stairs leading to the scaffold with a firm step and took his stand directly on the drop. The hangman, who was masked, strapped his ankles, and placed the noose about his neck. Father Jonckau pressed the crucifix to the doomed man's lips and then stepped aside. Lemon raised his eyes for an instant and glanced hurriedly towards the bright blue sky above, then lowered them to the ground and watched curiously for a moment the blanched faces of those who were gathered round to see him die. It was his last glance on earth, for at this instant the black cap was drawn over his eyes, the signal was given, the bolt was drawn and the wretched man shot through the trap as rapidly as a stroke of lightning and swayed to and fro six feet below an inanimate mass of clay. His neck was broken by the fall and death was instantaneous. After hanging 20 minutes Dr. Helmcken pronounced life extinct and the body was cut down and in the afternoon was buried at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Union Club House.

The new Union Clubhouse will be situated on the corner of Courtenay and Douglas streets fronting on the latter. The frontage of the main building on Douglas street will be 50 feet by 55 feet deep on Courtenay street and immediately in the rear on Courtenay street there will adjoin a one story billiard room 46 feet deep by 37 wide and lighted by five sky lights, there being no windows on the exterior of this building. The design of the front elevation is a sort of composite, in which the French style largely predominates. It is three storys high and may be said to consist of a centre portion and two wings surmounted by dormers or gables. The building will have a hipped roof. In the first story is a handsome entrance with steps, with bow windows on either side in a peculiar pointed style. Above this is an ornate frieze. The windows of the second story are double, circular headed except the one in the centre which is single. The dormer windows above are circular headed and the centre portion of the building below the roof has a handsome cornice. The base of the 1st story will be cemented and the building will be ornamented with string courses in black brick, the red brick of the building being pointed in black mortar.

THE BASEMENT

will be large and spacious extending under the whole of the principal building and will contain kitchen, pantries, store rooms, closets and servants' bed rooms, etc.

THE GROUND FLOOR

will contain hallway, dining room, bar, secretary's room, strangers' room, etc.

IN THE SECOND STORY

there will be reading room, writing room, library, steward's room, closets, etc. The third or attic story will not be finished at present. The tenders for this building are already advertised for by Messrs. Harris & Hargreaves, and there is no doubt but the building will prove a great acquisition to the club and a great ornament to the neighborhood.

"The Hidden Hand."

We quote the following from an exchange: "A fine house greeted the performance of 'Hidden Hand,' by the Whiteley Company, specially selected for the piece, and the audience was well pleased. Time-honored as is the play, the version presented is very materially different from those heretofore seen here, and is exceedingly well played by a company of much evenness, of which Emma Martie and Billy Robinson are the central figures. Her Capitola is graceful, pleasing and sparkling. Billy Robinson makes much of Wool, and the two contribute to the somewhat sensational play a large amount of innocent merriment. The piece is to be given again to-night."—St. Paul Pioneer-Press, August 31, 1882. Judging from this and other press notices this great company will crowd Philharmonic Hall to the doors on Tuesday evening next. Seats should be secured at Waitt's book store.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.—Mr. Reginald Nuttall has handed us an address delivered by him on the Rights of Labor before local assembly 3,107 Knights of Labor, Victoria. The address was sent east to the grand master of the order and returned to Mr Nuttall in a printed form, from which it may be inferred it met the general approval of the order. The question of the respective rights of capital and labor is a somewhat complicated one. It is probable that the world was not intended to be run on a mere commercial or industrial basis solely, and that the difficulties which are sure to arise between capital and labor are only some of the evils and checks which are meant to admonish the inordinate greed for wealth which is the great feature of the age in which we live.

A meeting was held here to-day for the purpose of electing three trustees for the new school district, Mount Lehman, just formed. The following gentleman were put in nomination: Messrs. Lehman, Ross, McCullum and Thomson. The result of the poll was: Lehman, 23; Ross, 22; McCullum, 19; Thomson, 8. A novel feature in the election was the appearance of five ladies who came to vote like men. The bachelors will have to take a back seat now and get married. They say they cannot stand two votes to one. I hope the government will now go ahead and build the schoolhouse so that the school will be able to start after the summer vacation.

The Blue Ribbon Social

Was well attended last evening. The choir, under Mr. Clyde, gave several fine selections. Rev. Mr. Reid, in a sound, logical speech, showed the immoral effects of the liquor buisness. Professors Francis, Cross and Gandy played several beautiful selections, which were rapturously applauded. Miss Good sang, "What care I?" and received a well merited encore. A quartette by Mrs. Clyde, Miss Stevens, and Messrs. Meston and Clyde, was well received. Rev. C Watson spoke on the temperance question, and handled the subject in a practical manner, Mr. Rudge stated the election of officers would be held on Wednesday evening. The Blue Ribbon Band played several pieces and are becoming very proficient.

DROUGHT. — The interior is suffering from drought and in many places the crops will be lost.

ARRIVAL OF THE OTTER.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH.

Queen Charlotte Island Explorations.

Yesterday afternoon the steamer Otter arrived from the Skidegate, Queen Charlotte Islands, with passengers and freight. The passage from the island to the mainland was very rough on the return trip; even the cook himself was placed hors de combat, and if dinner had been provided it is a question if it could have been persuaded to stay on the table, or if any one could have disposed of it. At the canneries the run of salmon had temporarily decreased, and the business was proceeding quietly. The Indians seemed generally quiet, even at Metlahkatla.

Among the passengers on the steamer Otter was Mr. Maynard, photographer, who was engaged by the government in connection with Mr. Chittenden in the exploration of Queen Charlotte Islands. Mr. Maynard brought down a portion of Mr. Chittenden's report to the government, and has taken in all some 200 photographic views of objects of interest on the islands. Exploring is no holiday work and the weather had been very wet.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS.

The land near the sea is very sandy, and the only chance of penetrating the interior is to follow the inlets and sail up the numerous streams that flow into them. Mr. Maynard often remained with the canoe and the Indians, while Mr. Chittenden proceeded along the beach until some inlet was reached. A fire was then lighted and a camp formed as a rendezvous from which expeditions were made into the interior. Sometimes in rough and thick weather the parties ashore and afloat were apt to lose each other. At the upper end of the island this happened in going from Tow Bay to Rose Spit. Mr. Maynard went with the Indians by water, and Mr. Chittenden by shore, but the weather coming on rough, the parties failed to connect at the Spit, in consequence of which Mr. Chittenden travelled here and there some 58 miles on foot before he met with the canoe. Mr. Maynard says he is not anxious to make any more voyages over the Rose Spit.

THE INDIANS

appeared to be unsettled and suspicious, and sometimes when Mr. Maynard had planted his camera for the purpose of taking a view, and had disappeared under the black cloth to arrange the final obsequies, he would find on emerging a deputation of red men prepared to interview him under the impression that he was surveying the island for some nefarious purposes; but on its being explained that the white man only wanted pictures, the explanation was deemed satisfactory. Mr. Maynard thinks it will take Mr. Chittenden at least three months to complete his work. In coming down Mr. Maynard heard that a Siwash had been killed at Cape Mudge on Friday last by two white men, one of whom was named Bell.

"The Grave Ends All."

On Friday the Indian chief whose son was killed by Lemon waited on the officials at the Indian office and said:—"This man Lemon murdered my son. I saw my child lying dead before my eyes. I said, the white man's laws shall give me satisfaction for this. I will see if they can avenge a poor Indian's death. I could have killed Lemon; but I did not. I wanted to try the laws I have hatrd so much about. I want to see him hanged to-morrow. Then I want to get his body and lay it by the side of my poor son beneath the trees in Cowichan Valley. There they will both be happy together and I shall be satisfied when I die to be laid between them. I do not hate Lemon; but I want him to be hanged because he took my son's life."

Having thus delivered himself through an interpreter the old man drew his blanket over his face and walked slowly and sorrowfully away. Yesterday he saw the murderer of his son hanged and to-morrow, if allowed, will convey the body to Cowichan for burial by his son.

Cricket.

Cathedral Institute vs. Victoria.—Yesterday at Beacon Hill the Institute succeeded in reaping ample revenge for their 34 runs defeat of the previous week in the shape of a majority of 167 with three wickets to hand. Victoria, having won the toss, elected to bat; but were able to muster only 51 runs—Vernon alone reaching double figures. Campbell and Sinclair bowled unchanged throughout the innings and the former obtained his 5 wickets at a cost of 17 runs. The Institute began their innings well with 26 for the first wicket. Ten more had been added when Goepel was dismissed, and then Walker and Sinclair raised the score to 124. Both men played in admirable style and hit well and freely. In Walker's 51 were 6 threes while Sinclair's "not out" contribution of 61 included a five, 2 fours and 3 threes. The latter received a nasty blow on the hand but for which he would have obtained several more runs. Of the bowlers Bovill's 5 wickets cost 63 runs, Pooley's 2 being at the price of 23. Next Saturday an eleven vs. twenty-two match is projected by the V. C. C. and a week later the Institute will try conclusions with H. M. S. Constance. Cricket is looking up.

Launch.

Last evening the new sidewheel steamer built for the Hastings Sawmill Company by Mr. W. Bolton was launched from the Rock Bay shipyard about eight o'clock. The boat was gaily decorated with English, American and other flags, and the launch was achieved in the presence of quite a number of spectators in a perfectly successful manner. The boat is 74 61 builders' measurement. The dimensions of the boat are as follows:—Length, 93 feet; beam, 17 feet and hold 5½ feet. She has a double frame, natural crooks, 7 inches by 4 inches; her planking is 2½ inches and ceiling 2 inches. Her decks are 2 inches by 4 inches, and the paddle wheels 15 feet in diameter. She will be surrounded by a guard, and the material of which she is built is Douglas fir. The Albion Iron Works are to put up her engines which will be of the compound type, but their size and power has not yet been determned on. She is intended for towing purposes and her model and build are highly creditable to her experienced builder.

FOR THE NORTH.—The steamer Barbara Boscowitz sailed for the north from Spratt's wharf shortly after four o'clock with a number of passengers and a varied freight.

BURNS MOUNTAIN.—The miners engaged in running the tunnel into Bald Mountain hope to strike the lead in 30 days. They have reached several rich stringers.

Nanaimo.

(Free Press.)

The Royal City Planing Mills Company received a few days ago a powerful engine to furnish more power at their Nanaimo mill and yesterday a large tubular boiler and steam chest were brought up on the Rithet from the Albion Iron Works.

The steamer Beaver while towing a boom of logs down from Comox last week was forced through head winds to take the boom into Nanoose bay. The winds have continued adverse till yesterday, when the Beaver returned to Nanoose bay to make a fresh start with the boom for Victoria.

Riding at anchor in the outer harbor, discharging ballast preparatory to hauling alongside the V. C. Co.'s wharves, is the bark Syren. This vessel will take on 1100 tons of Nanaimo coal and leave for the Arctic ocean.

The Island railway line has been located across the Millstream. It passes between the Nanaimo saw mill and Mahrer's Brewery and runs between Selby and Prideaux streets in the suburbs.

Some miscreant on Thursday night poured some coal oil into the well in the church lot near the Rectory. It appears that Rev. J. B. Good finding the water getting extremely low, objected to parties taking out any more water. The result was that some evil disposed person placed the oil in the well to prevent the water being used at the rectory.

A movement is on foot to shorten the hours during which the business establishments of this city shall be kept open. The proposal is to close every evening (Saturdays excepted) at 7 o'clock.

Lytton Assizes.

(Before Hon. Mr. Justice Walkem)

There were six criminal and twelve civil cases here, and the whole work was done in a day.

Alexander Ingle, commonly called Scottie, was charged with the murder of a man known as Siwash Mike. Mr. McColl represented the prisoner, and hoped the crown would not object to his putting in a plea of guilty of manslaughter; and showed very clearly that there was no evidence of premeditation; and that the death of Mike was the result of a fit of intemperance in which both parties had been engaged. The plea was accepted, and he was sentenced to fourteen years' hard labor in the penitentiary.

A man named Reilly was charged with shooting at three Indian boys. It appears he went to the rancheria to take away a young Indian woman by force; the boys resisted, he fired three shots at them, and the jury brought him in guilty of common assault, with a recommendation to mercy. He was sentenced to six months' hard labor. In this case Mr. McColl completely puzzled the Indian witnesses, and saved his client from the results of conviction on the more serious accusation.

The prisoners who escaped from Lytton gaol were convicted. One, the ringleader, was sentenced to two years' hard labor, and each of the other two was sentenced to hard labor for a year.—Guardian.

New Westminster.

(Columbian.)

There are now quite a number of men about this city and district looking for employment. The supply in the labor market seems at last to have exceeded the demand. Our industries at best are very limited, and the influx of a few hundred worningmen is felt at once. There has been very little done this season in the fisheries, the railway works between Port Moody and Lytton are about completed, and the demand for lumber is by no means brisk. We are afraid many more men will come than can find employment, at least until harvest.

Nobody knows when the Sound steamer will arrive, and if matters in this direction do not materially improve, very soon nobody will care.

It is now reported that the steamship Queen of the Pacific will not go to Port Moody with the locomotives, but they will be taken over on one of the Sound tugs.

The run of salmon is very light, and the prospects are not encouraging.

The other day two more families arrived and could find no place to live. The city is losing a great many people who would become permanent residents, because it cannot supply them with houses.

Ecclesiastical.

At a meeting of the congregation of St Andrew's church, New Westminster, recently held, a resolution was passed delegating the right and privilege of the members to call a minister to be their pastor to a commission named by them in Ontario to act in their name and in their behalf. These commissioners, the Rev. Drs. Reid, Gregg and Cochrane, have given the call to the Rev. J. S. McKay, M. A., of Toronto to be successor to the Rev. Mr. Jamieson. Mr. McKay has accepted the call, and his arrival may be looked for in a few weeks.

Attempted Burglary.

This morning about 2 o'clock, two Nittinatt Indians were caught while in the act of burglarizing the clothing store of Mr. Lewis Lewis on Yates street. They had succeeded in effecting an entrance by climbing over a high fence at the back of the premises, and while proceeding with their work the noise disturbed Mr. Lewis, who was sleeping in the building, and who immediately rushed out and gave the alarm to the police. Officer Stewart and Specials Lindsay and Conners were soon on the spot and captured the culprits, one of whom had got into the store. No goods were found in their possession, although doubtless their intentions were nefarious. They were locked up.

The Popular Approval.

Of the now famous Syrup of Figs as the most efficacious and agreeable preparation ever offered to the world as a cure for Habitual Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion and kindred ills, has been won by the wise pursued by the California Fig Syrup Company. Knowing that any remedy truly beneficial in its effects on the system, and at the same time pleasant to the taste, will meet with a rapid sale, the Company, through its agents for Victoria, Langley & Co., gives away sample bottles free of charge. Try it and judge for yourself. Large bottles fifty cents or one dollar. 1

BRITISH COLUMBIA.—The writer of the letter on Britsh Columbia, which was copied from the Toronto Mail, and appeared in this journal yesterday, is Mr. W. de la Penotiere, of this city.

DEAD BODY.—It was rumored last evening that the dead body of a woman was found yesterday on the trail leading from Hastings and Granville.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Rev. Mr. Meldrum will preach in the Pandora Avenue Church this morning, and in St. Andrew's Church this evening.

Yale.

CUT WITH AN AX.—On Friday evening a man at New Westminster was attacked on the street by another man who was armed with an ax. When the party attacked emerged from the contest his nose was missing.

He Was With Grant.

[New York World.]

"I was with Grant," the cripple said.
Said the patriot, "Say no more.
My heart goes out—it yearns, in fact—
For men who've dabbled in gore,"

"I was with Grant," he feebly said,
"Nay, nay," was the response; "no more;
You have fought your country's battles well,
And now you're old and poor.

Come sit thee down in this quiet nook,
And we'll wrestle a couple of beers;
As your memory awakens you'll tell me o'er
The tale of those dreadful years—

How you fought and marched with the gallant chief
From Belmont's bloody shore
Down to that Appomattox field
Now famous for evermore."

The stranger sipped of the foaming meed,
In his eye a glistening tear;
His trembling lip of his anguish told,
But he rallied under the beer.

"I was with Grant," he grimly said;
But 'twas not in the civil war.
I was with him down in the street called Wall
When he cleaned 'em both near and far.

I happened to be a depositor,
And I fell in the foremost rank.
I was with Grant and likewise Ward,
In the explosion of their bank."

Then spake the patriot never a word,
But he beat with his cane full sore
This fraud who financered with Grant
Some years behind the war.

Farming in the North-West.

ENTERPRISE.—Messrs. A. Harris, Son & Co. (Ld.), Wednesday received by wire an order from the "Bell Farm" Qu'Apelle N. W. T., for 25 of their celebrated Brantford binders and 10,000 pounds of binding twine. When it is known that the McCormick Co. and William Deering, of Chicago, were both competing for this order, as were also all Canadian manufacturers the very high standing of the "Brantford Binder" will at once be apparent, as it was preferred before all others either of American or Canadian make. Messrs. A. Harris, Son & Co., limited, have already booked orders for nearly 500 Brantford Binders for the harvest of 1884.

Messrs. Harris & Co. are since then in receipt of another order from the "Edgely Farm" Qu'Appelle for a car load of Brantford Binders. All the big Bonanza farmers of the North West are now ordering those Binders in preference to all others.

BURNS & Co. of this city are the agents for the "Brantford Binders" in this province. These Binders have a five, six and seven-foot cut.

A SLAVE SALE IN TANGIER.

How the Inhuman Traffic is Openly Carried on in an African City.

(Cor. Leeds Mercury.)

Sunday, I learned, was the day on which these human chattles were generally disposed of; so on the first Saturday after my arrival in Tangier I laid my plans. I went for a walk and presently found myself in the little crowded market within the walls of the city, threading my way past the stalls laden with spring vegetables, with delicious oranges, bananas and other fruit, and among the heaps of fish over which Arab housewives were battling eagerly with the salesmen. Visions of scenes described in the pages of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and other works of fiction familiar to me in my early days flashed before my eyes. I turned eagerly and followed my guide, expecting shortly to witness a melo-dramatic scene.

Just ahead of my conductor was a tall turbaned Arab, with a fine face and a long grey beard, whom I recognized as one of the auctioneers who patrol the High street of Tangier, carrying pieces of calico, horse-trappings, knives or other articles on their arms, and crying the price at which they are offered to the public. He was moving stolidly along through the crowd of market people, who were all too busy to spare so much as a glance at him. My guide pointed to him. "Voila!" he cried. "But where is the slave?" I demanded. "Voila, monsieur, Voilla!" he repeated, pointing out again to the auctioneer, and then I saw walking wearily behind him, pausing when he paused, moving on when he advanced, with eyes of pathetic apathy upon the busy throng about her, a girl, a child of fourteen years or thereabouts, with uncovered face, clad in a single scanty garment of white cotton. She was black but not uncomely, and she had evidently been carefully prepared in the bath for the ordeal of this morning.

There she stood, alone in the crowd, friendless, dejected, travel-worn, hardly to be distinguished in outward appearance from the other girls around her, and yet deprived of the first of all the rights which our human nature claims for itself—a slave without even the commonist of the privileges of humanity. The little girl looked up with a dull curiosity visible on her features when she observed my European dress. Then she looked away with the same sad face of hopeless dejection. I asked her price, "Thirty-five dollars" (seven pounds), was the answer. Seven pounds as the price for this little bit of humanity! She had been brought from the Soudan, the auctioneer told me. She had been captured there by a slave-dealer who carried her to Mogador and passed her on to another dealer, by whom she had been taken to Tangier. She was a Pagan, absolutely ignorant, but she was healthy, she was active, she was good looking, she was—but no; my pen refuses to chronicle the list of various qualities as they were glibly enumerated by the salesman. He might have been talking of a horse or a sheep; nay, he would hardly have talked so coarsly of either of those animals as he did of this fellow-creature of mine. Presently he turned away disappointed, finding that no bid wasforthcoming from me. I followed him at a little distance along the narrow winding street. The girl was ever treading closely at his footsteps. Suddenly a woman beckoned him to a door. He entered it, still followed by the girl; and when a few minutes afterwards he emerged he was alone. Through my conductor I learned that he had sold the girl to the woman of the house for £8.

Names of European Nations.

These are derived principally from some particular cause or object. For instance, Ireland—which Julius Cæsar first called Hibernia—is a modification of Erin, or the country of the West.

Scotland, from Scotia, a tribe which originally came from Ireland. It was anciently called Caledonia, which means a mountainous country — forests and lands.

Portugal, the ancient Lusitania, was so named from a town on the river Douro, called Cale, opposite to which the inhibitants built the city of Porto.

Spain, the ancient Iberia, from the river Iberus, or Hispania, from the Phœnician spaniga, which signifies abounding with rabbits, which animals are very numerous in that country, hence the name of Spain.

France, from the Franks, a people of Germany, who conquered that country. Its ancient name was Celta, Gaul, or Gallia-Bracchata, the latter signifying stripped breeches, which were worn by the natives.

Switzerland, the ancient Helvetia, was so named by the Austrians, who called the inhabitants of the mountainous countries Schweitzers.

Italy received its present name from a renowned prince called Italus. It was called Hesperia from its western locality.

Holland, the ancient Batavi, a warlike people, was so named from the German word wohl, the English of which is hollow, implying a very low country. The inhabitants are called Dutch, from the German deutsch or teutsch.

Sweden and Norway were anciently called Scandinavia, which the modern antiquarians think means a country the woods of which have been burned or destroyed. The appellation Sweden is derived from Sictuna, or Snitheod. The native term Norway, or the northern way, explains itself.

Prussia, from Peuzzi, a Sclavonic race; but some writers suppose it took its name from Russia, and the Sclavonic syllable po, which means adjacent or near.

Denmark means the marches, territories, or boundaries of the Danes.

Russia is the ancient Sarmatia, which has been subsequently named Muscovy. It derived its present name from Russi, a Sclavonic tribe who founded the Russian monarchy. The original savage inhabitants used to paint their bodies in order to appear more terrible in battle. They generally lived in the mountains, and their chariots were their only habitations.

Turkey took its name from the Turks, or Turcomans, which signifies wanderers, and originally belonged to the Scythians or Tartars. It si sometimes called the Ottoman Empire, from Othoman, one of the principal leaders.
